Women's Sewing Projects in Rwanda & Uganda

In Rwanda and Uganda we have worked to provide women the opportunity to break the unfortunate cycle of poverty in their communities through sewing. Students receive a free yearlong training, for which they receive certification that enables them to start sewing for others or start their own business with our micro loans. We provide the sewing machines, fabric and all the necessary tools for them to start learning.

This project is especially important to us because most girls never complete secondary school, often having to drop out to work in the fields until they wed early and start their own families. This project helps teach women a skill that can help provide for themselves and their family. Additionally, this skill can lead to a career that can prevent poaching of the forest wildlife.

Pictured to the left is one of our masks are made in Uganda by the Sewing Center team. The masks help protect you and the people around you. They also help save endangered wildlife because every donation dollar goes back to help wildlife in danger of becoming extinct. The fabric will not bleed color and they are washable and reusable. Visit our donate page below to purchase, 100% of your donation will go to programs to help save wildlife.

Tree Planting Project

Tree planting programs in areas affected by deforestation in Rwanda, Uganda and on Borneo due to illegal logging and forest clearing.

We make sure that each child gets to bring home a sapling (our two) of a fruiting tree to plant in the property. Please see our video below of this project in action.

Leadership in African Wildlife Conservation

African Leadership University focuses on educating future leaders and entrepreneurs of Africa. Their mission with the school of Wildlife Conservation is to increase the supply of capable African leaders who can the best management, leadership and business practices to conservation." - Fred Swaniker.

This video below shows a student leader, Mandla, as he continues his education to protect Wildlife in Africa.
